ER nurse Kristine Lacoste reassures young patient Ariane Heisel, 6.

ER service restored by HMC

The winds and raging floodwater of Hurricane Katrina ravaged Hancock Medical Center but they could not destroy the determination of the hospital staff to provide excellent health care to the citizens of Hancock County. Despite a bruised and battered building, the hospital's Emergency Department opened its doors on October 6.

"It's a work in progress," F. Collins Knight, M.D., said from a makeshift desk in the emergency room. "Every day, we are getting closer to running a full service ER."

The entire first floor of the hospital sustained flood damage, including the laboratory and imaging departments, services that are vital to the emergency department. The laboratory has been temporarily relocated to a patient room, and the hospital is installing a portable CT scanner to help facilitate emergency treatment.

According to Certified Family Nurse Practitioner and Emergency Department Manager Shana Blakeney, the ER staff is still able to provide care by utilizing services that have been restored.

"We are relying heavily on diagnostic ultrasound," Blakeney said, citing that this technology can be helpful in determining the seriousness of an injury.

Currently, most patients have needed treatment for fractures or other minor injuries. For the time being, patients needing more critical treatment are being transported to other facilities.

"Normally, lab or imaging tests can help rule out a number of illnesses," Blakeney said. "Now, if the patient is exhibiting certain symptoms, we have to transfer them."

As the restoration continues on the hospital, more services will be added.

"We have new equipment on order that will be better than the old ones," Mickey Bryant, laboratory manager, said. "We're just waiting on the lab space to be completed."

The hospital staff is working hard toward that goal. Throughout the halls, nurses, athletic trainers and other employees can be spotted painting walls and moving equipment into place. The hospital is expected to begin offering limited inpatient services on October 28.

"We love this hospital and we love this community," Blakeney said. "We're coming back better and stronger."

THE ARTS, Hancock County meets Sunday to explore funding for artists

The Arts, Hancock County will a meeting next Sunday, October 23 at 5:00 pm at 134 Blaize Avenue, next to Bay City Grill, in Bay St. Louis. It does not matter if you are a member of the organization; all visual artists, writers, poets, musicians, performing artists, artisans and friends of the arts are invited to attend.

"While locating all of our artists is still a concern, we are going ahead with efforts to document the losses sustained by both art businesses and artists. We have applied for an organizational grant from the Americans for the Arts and will have individual grant information available at the meeting," reported Gwen Impson, president of The ARTS.

People from all across the country want to know how to help local artists, so an Adopt an Artist program has begun. Artists will have their photo taken, describe their work and provide a detailed list of needs. Posting this on the web will allow individuals to connect one-on-one with a particular artist.

Impson attended a day long seminar entitled "Resources for Recovering Mississippi's Cultural Heritage" in Hattiesburg last week.

The event was sponsored by Mississippi's Humanities Council, Library Commission, and Art Commission. Resources included funding, networking and information on federal programs.

Volunteers are helping to explore every avenue of help on the internet and otherwise.

For more information, contact Gwen Impson at 228-263-6530 or Angela Sallis at 228-216-7725.

Debris removal high priority for FEMA

THE ECHO

The cleanup and disposal of mountains of debris - 11 million cubic yards to date - continues to be a high priority for disaster recovery officials. The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) and the Mississippi Emergency Management Agency (MEMA) are orchestrating and monitoring debris operations while ensuring that guidelines are followed for the debris removed from private property.

"Removal of debris following hurricanes is a massive task," said Nick Russo, FEMA's federal coordinating officer in Mississippi. "It is FEMA's job to see that governments and private contractors have the information required for private property approval to perform this gigantic task."

FEMA's Public Assistance program provides funding to state and local governments for disaster-related emergency work, debris removal and repairs to, or replacement of, damaged infrastructure.

Normally, FEMA reimburses costs of removal only for debris that is on public property or that is placed on public rights-of-way by residents clearing their private property. However, in the case of Katrina-related debris, FEMA has relaxed that policy, at the state's request, to allow for debris removal from private property in six southern Mississippi counties - George, Hancock, Harrison, Jackson, Pearl River and Stone.

"We requested that residential debris be included for pickup and disposal when that property is identified as a health and safety hazard," said MEMA Director Robert Latham. "We're continually looking at ways to improve the health, safety and well-being of our communities and anticipate that more counties or municipalities will be made eligible for private property debris removal."

To date, FEMA's Public Assistance program has received requests for private property debris removal from the counties of George, Hancock, Harrison, Jackson, Pearl River and Stone; and the cities of Bay St. Louis, Biloxi, D'Iberville, Gautier, Gulfport, Long Beach, Moss Point, Ocean Springs, Pascagoula, Waveland, and Wiggins.

Debris removal and disaster recovery go hand in hand. Federal and state recovery officials encourage residents to be cautious when removing storm debris from homes and roadways. The rubbish may contain any number of dangerous items.

Property owners will want to check with their local jurisdictions regarding debris removal schedules. Here are some safety guidelines to follow:

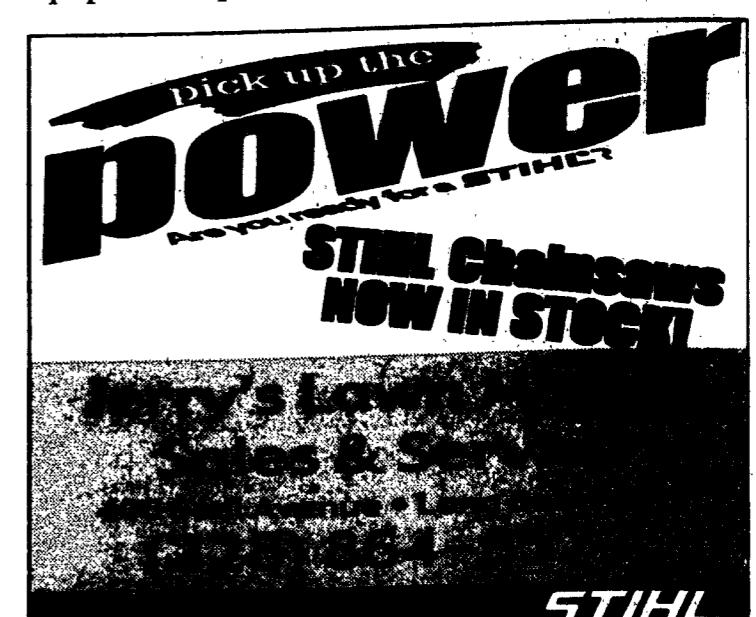

- Keep children away from debris piles. They can be full of broken materials, glass, nails, jagged wood, and other sharp items. Children can easily get injured playing in, around, or on trash heaps. The debris may also contain rodents or bugs, raising the possibility of bites.

- Watch children carefully when heavy equipment is in the area and debris removal operations are taking place.

Small children may not be easily seen by equipment operators.

- Drive carefully when behind debris-loaded trucks. Materials can easily shift and fly out, causing an accident or driving hazard. Leave a safe distance between your car and the truck.

- Move your car from the debris pile area. This will make it easier for the equipment operator to classrooms set up under awnings on nice days, caters to grades K-5, but all age students are welcome. Older students are encouraged to help out at the school. The subjects of reading, writing, math and language arts are stressed, with physical education activities and arts and crafts.

Students do not receive any official credit for attending the classes, but then, attendance is on a volunteer basis. An average of about 50 students attend each day, with numbers growing each day. On Friday there were 78 students and on Monday there were even more, Beltran said. Hours are from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Parents can register students when they drop them off.

Lunch is provided by the Georgia Crisis Center located at the Winn Dixie shopping Supplies are provided by donations. On Monday art supplies donated by Sharon Brookon's art class at Jacksonville Common Elementary School in North Carolina arrived at the school. Each class member created a poster for children at the school as well. Supplies such as markers, play dough and basketballs were delivered by a medical assistance team from the same state.

The team is set up in the K-Mart parking lot. RN's Chris Ogden and Andrea Brown helped deliver the supplies to the students.

The school is an ever evolving project, said Beltran, and will be around as long as it is needed, until regular classes begin, hopefully by November 1. For Bay Waveland school information you may call 228-467-6621.

8 are working on academics as well as leadership skills in working with younger students.

The Pearson Group has provided a fully equipped mobile computer lab for the students. The teacher volunteers said that approximately 50 students are participating from 10:00 to 2:00 each day. Some 20 district teachers were trained recently by Save the Children, a national organization designed to provide classroom based interventions specifically designed for large scale crisis counseling of youth in the aftermath of a natural disaster.

Specially trained crisis intervention teachers and district certified teachers are being requested to work at the Tent School along with the volunteer teachers.

The Boys' and Girls' Club has requested consideration of available space for after school programming. Space is being considered at Waveland Elementary for that program. The Second Street Elementary Gym, which previously housed the program, sustained considerable damage from Hurricane Katrina.

David Watkins, an attorney from Jackson, has notified the superintendent that Deuce McAlister of the New Orleans Saints has donated a Pontiac Montana SUV to the Bay-Waveland School District. Rankin County Schools has also donated a mini bus and a van.

Stasny invited the board, faculty, staff and community members to a cook-out on Saturday, October 22, at Second Street Elementary. Chris Boone of Stewart, Sneed and Hewes is the sponsor for this community event.

Marca Boyer, Bay High Principal, presented to the board for consideration several options in revising the school calendar for the remainder of the 2005-06 school year. The recommendation by Dr. Stasny and approved by the board for submission to the Mississippi Dept. of Education for approval is that Bay High change to a six-period day, allowing high school students to complete the required 130 hours necessary to receive course credits for this school year. Elementary students in grades Kindergarten through 8th grade will meet the same number of instructional days as the high school. The original school calendar with scheduled holidays and graduation date remains in place.

Other items approved by the board include:

- Encore Restoration received partial payment in the amount of $400,000 for work completed through October 16. Total estimated cost of Encore Services is $5.2 million to meet the scope of work in restoring the schools. FEMA will reimburse this cost at 100 percent.

- Relocation of Special and Regular Meetings from Bay Middle School to the Central Office (Hut #2 in the bus yard on Carroll Ave.) effective Monday, October 24 at 6:00 p.m.

Don't wait for insurance settlement to apply for SBA

If you are waiting to settle with your insurance company before you apply for disaster loan assistance, you could be delaying your recovery efforts, according to Frank Skaggs, Director of SBA Field Operations Center - East.

"Do not wait to settle your insurance claim before turning in your completed SBA disaster loan application," Skaggs said today. SBA Disaster Loan Representatives are still available at several local offices to answer any questions you might have, help you complete your application and accept your completed application.

According to Skaggs, most homeowners, renters, and business owners will find they are not fully covered for their damages and will need additional funds to complete repairs. "But we can not help if you do not complete and return your SBA Disaster Loan Application," added Skaggs.

For an individual with personal property and/or home losses, a completed application will also keep the door open to other types of assistance. Those who do not return a completed SBA application may be disqualifying themselves from other types of assistance, including possible grant assistance. SBA is the primary source of long-term recovery assistance for homeowners, renters, non-farm businesses of all sizes, and private non-profit organizations that received damage during the disaster.

SBA offers loans up to $200,000 to repair disaster damaged primary residences. Homeowners and renters are eligible for loans up to $40,000 to replace personal property such as furniture and clothing. Loans to businesses of all sizes and non-profit organizations are available up to $1.5 million to repair damage to real estate, machinery, equipment, and inventory. Economic Injury Disaster Loans (EIDLs) are also available to small businesses unable to pay bills or meet operating expenses because of the disaster.

Interest rates can be as low as 2.687 percent for homeowners and renters and 4.000 percent for businesses with terms up to 30 years. Loan amounts and terms are set by SBA and are based upon each applicant's financial condition.

Information on SBA loan applications is also available by calling the SBA Disaster Assistance Customer Service Center at 1-800-659-2955 (for the hearing-impaired 1-800-877-8339) or visiting the SBA Website at www.SBA.gov/disaster. Completed applications can be taken to any of the local offices or can be mailed to: Disaster Assistance Loan Processing and Disbursement Center, 14925 Kingsport Road, Fort Worth, Texas 76155.

The deadline to return applications for physical damage is October 28, 2005; the deadline to return economic injury applications is May 29, 2006.

Where do I turn now?

Recovery centers to close on Sundays

State and federal officials have announced that Disaster Recovery Centers throughout the state of Mississippi will be closed Sundays, starting Oct. 23. Hours for Monday through Saturday will remain 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. The schedule will remain in effect until further notice.

People affected by Hurricane Katrina are urged to register for assistance before visiting a Disaster Recovery Center by calling 1-800-621-FEMA (3362) or by going online at www.fema.gov. The TTY number is 1-800-462-7585 for those who are speech or hearing impaired.

Representatives of state, federal and voluntary agencies are on hand at Disaster Recovery Centers to answer questions and provide recovery information. Officials from the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) are available to discuss disaster loans for homeowners, renters and businesses of any size.

In the aftermath of a disaster, you can feel stressed and frustrated—especially if you also have a health concern.

— How do I reach my doctor?

— How do I check on the status of my health insurance?

— Where do I find out about new disaster Medicaid benefits?

— Where can I get prescriptions filled?

— Where are immunizations available?

— Where do I go for an emergency?

Don't file duplicate disaster assistance applications

THE ECHO

If you have applied once for FEMA disaster assistance, please do not apply a second time. It could delay processing of your application and receipt of your assistance.

Nick Russo, FEMA's federal coordinating officer, says residents who were affected by Hurricane Katrina should not register more than once for federal disaster assistance. "It can slow down, even stop, the processing of their applications," he stated.

Here is how Mississippi hurricane victims can avoid duplicate registrations:

- If you have applied online, do not duplicate your application with a phone call.
- If you have applied by phone, do not file again online.
- Have your registration number with you as a reference when you call the FEMA Helpline or visit a Disaster Recovery Center.

- Make sure only one person in your household applies for assistance.
- Make sure that another family member or friend does not file a second application for your damaged address.

"We cannot stress it enough—do not register twice," emphasized Robert Latham, director of Mississippi Emergency Management Agency. ## Moore Co., NC adopts Tigers & BS

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
Staff Writer

The Bay St. Louis area has always been known for its hospitality. And, the residents are viewed much the same way. However, on August 29th hospitality did not come knocking on the doors of the tiny, quiet Mississippi coastal area. Something much worse knocked the door in and changed the lives and landscape of this once beautiful and quaint area.

But, out of the chaos arose hospitality in another form and from another area - Moore County, North Carolina. Moore County is one similar in size to Hancock County with towns close in description to Bay St. Louis. In the days following the storm, Steve Bower began to research an area similar to his that needed some immediate help. Bower is the editor of the Pilot Newspaper in Southern Pines.

As his research narrowed down, he began to send e-mails and make phone calls to officials in the area. It was a while before Bower heard anything until about 1:15 a.m. one morning when he heard from Bay St. Louis mayor Eddie Favre. At that point, Moore Friends for Mississippi was born and Bay St. Louis became an adopted town.

In the following days after the initial discussion, immediate needs were assessed for the town and its people. Since then, the aid and effort has been flowing.

In an attempt to restore as much normalcy as possible, it was decided that Bay High football must continue but there were no uniforms to outfit a team. This was one of the first responses from Moore County.

Jerseys were purchased at cost from a company in Maryland and sent overnight to North Carolina where numbers were placed on the uniforms. From there, the uniforms were sent to Bay St. Louis in time for the Tigers' first game back against the Long Beach Bearcats.

Jerry Lefton, a member of the committee for Moore Friends for Mississippi, stated, "We scoured maps of the ravaged areas of the coast and found Bay St. Louis to be comparable in size to what we were looking for. We adopted Bay St. Louis and are strictly located in the Bay area. The uniforms for the football team was the first of many projects that we would like to perform. We are working with the athletic director to determine what the needs are for the other athletic teams and how we can help. We have collected donations for the library and are in talks with city officials to refurbish one of the city parks."

Lefton continued, "We would like to have hands on inclusion in the refurbishing of the park such as clearing trees and the park, installation of the park equipment, etc. We want to provide the volunteer labor to make this project a reality."

According to Lefton, the response in Moore County has been overwhelming. There is a collection drive for new household items such as linens, pots, pans, dishes and the like to be distributed throughout the Bay area. On Saturday, October 15th, there was a benefit concert put on by the Artie Shaw Orchestra with all proceeds raised sent to Bay St. Louis.

Moore Friends for Mississippi plans to be present for long-term rebuilding efforts in Bay St. Louis and have pledged that their generosity and efforts will be directed to what Bay St. Louis needs.

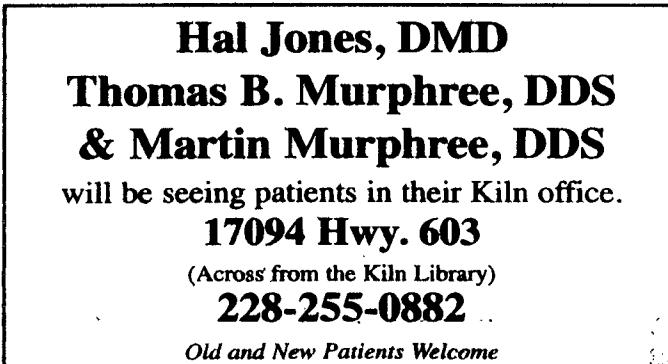

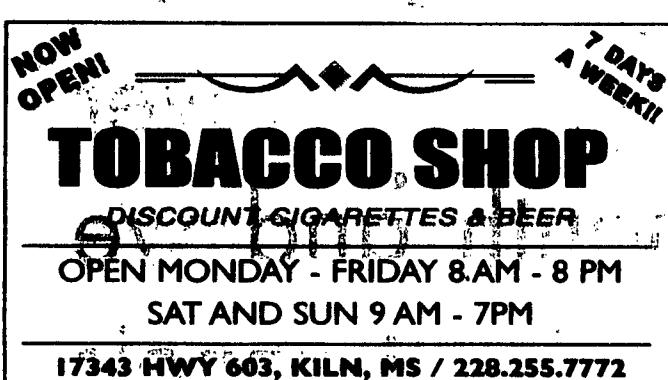

best here in the Bay."

Bay High head football coach Brennan Comprett and his team have been recipients of the generosity of Moore Friends for Mississippi. He commented, "The efforts from this group has been unbelievable. I didn't know what to expect from them or what their intentions were at the beginning; however, all I can say now is that I am proud to be part of a country that looks out for each other. Their efforts have made it so much easier for us to get back on the field. It makes one think that if this happens somewhere else, you would want to help in whatever you could."

Lefton commented on his first impressions of Bay St. Louis following the storm, "I thought I was prepared for what I was going to see; however, the devastation was just overwhelming. I never saw Bay St. Louis prior to the storm and now all I see is devastation. The people here have been very outgoing and friendly to us. They have been very gracious for what we are trying to do. The school officials let me speak to the football team prior to the game (against Pass Christian) and the team was very appreciative of what we have done and are continuing to do. We are not the only community down here helping along the Coast but we are just trying to do our

The rebuilding effort will continue throughout the Bay area and surrounding communities. People will pick up and move on from this tragedy. However, Bay residents will always know that there are Moore friends out there willing to lend a hand.

Gulf Islands National Seashore reopens limited areas in Mississippi District

THE ECHO

"Most of the Davis Bayou Area in Ocean Springs and the offshore waters within the National Park Service boundary opened to the public on Monday, October 17," announced Park Superintendent Jerry Eubanks today after being closed due to Hurricane Katrina.

"National Park employees and others from around the United States and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico removed the downed trees and debris from the Davis Bayou Area in Ocean Springs, Mississippi," said Eubanks.

Trails, public boat ramp, four pavilions, ball fields and picnic areas along Hanley Road inside the Davis Bayou Area will be reopened for public use. The William M. Colmer Visitor Center and adjacent fishing pier, trails and picnic area will remain closed until the area is made safe for visitors. The popular visitor center had more than four feet of water from Hurricane Katrina's storm surge and will remain closed until repairs can be made. A temporary visitor contact station will be installed adjacent to the building later this month.

The Davis Bayou Campground will be used by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) to house temporary trailers for local residents who need housing.

All offshore waters within the Gulf Islands National Seashore boundary (one mile around Petit Bois, Horn, East and West Ship Islands) also reopened to boaters on Monday, October 17. All the offshore barrier islands will remain closed until areas are deemed safe for the public. Boaters are reminded to take special precaution when boating in park waters because of the submerged or floating debris plus the movement of sand changing the depth of water.

Visitors are reminded to watch their step and to look out for debris while visiting the reopened areas.
